Board of Directors
Kenneth Jerome, Inc.

In planning and performing our audit of the financial statements and supplemental schedules of Kenneth Jerome, Inc. (the Company), for the year ended April 30, 2008, we considered its internal control, including control activities for safeguarding securities, in order to determine our auditing procedures for the purpose of expressing our opinion on the financial statements and not to provide assurance on internal control.

Also, as required by rule 17a-5(g)(1) of the Securities and Exchange Commission (SEC), we have made a study of the practices and procedures followed by the Company including tests of such practices and procedures that we considered relevant to the objectives stated in rule 17(a)-5(g) in making the periodic computations of aggregate indebtedness and net capital under rule 17a-3(a)(11) and for determining compliance with the exemptive provisions of rule 15c3-3. Because the Company does not carry securities accounts for customers or perform custodial functions relating to customer securities, we did not review the practices and procedures followed by the Company in any of the following:

1. Making quarterly securities examinations, counts, verifications, and comparisons
2. Recordation of differences required by rule 17a-13
3. Complying with the requirements for prompt payment for securities under Section 8 of Federal Reserve Regulation T of the Board of Governors of the Federal Reserve System

The management of the Company is responsible for establishing and maintaining internal control and the practices and procedures referred to in the preceding paragraph. In fulfilling this responsibility, estimates and judgments by management are required to assess the expected benefits and related costs of controls and of the practices and procedures referred to in the preceding paragraph and to assess whether those practices and procedures can be expected to achieve the SEC's above-mentioned objectives. Two of the objectives of internal control and the practices and procedures are to provide management with reasonable but not absolute assurance that assets for which the company has responsibility are safeguarded against loss from unauthorized use or disposition and that transactions are executed in accordance with management's authorization and recorded properly to permit the preparation of financial statements in conformity with generally accepted accounting principles. Rule 17a-5(g) lists additional objectives of the practices and procedures listed in the preceding paragraph.

Because of inherent limitations in internal control or the practices and procedures referred to above, error or fraud may occur and not be detected. Also, projection of any evolution of them to future periods is subject to the risk that they may become inadequate because of changes in conditions or that the effectiveness of their design and operation may deteriorate.

Our consideration of internal control would not necessarily disclose all matters in internal control that might be material weaknesses under standards established by the American Institute of Certified Public Accountants. A material weakness is a condition in which the design or operation of the specific internal control components does not reduce to a relatively low level the risk that error or fraud in amounts that would be material in relation to the financial statements being audited may occur and not be detected within a timely period by employees in the normal course of performing their assigned functions. However, we noted no matter involving internal control including control activities for safeguarding securities, that we consider to be material weaknesses as defined above.

We understand that practices and procedures that accomplish the objectives referred to in the second paragraph of this report are considered by the SEC to be adequate for its purposes in accordance with the Securities Exchange Act of 1934 and related regulations, and that practices and procedures that do not accomplish such objectives in all material respects indicate a material inadequacy for such purposes. Based on this understanding and on our study, we believe that the Company's practices and procedures were adequate at April 30, 2008, to meet the SEC's objectives.

This report is intended solely for the information and use of the Board of Directors, management, the SEC, the N.A.S.D. and other regulatory agencies that rely on rule 17a-5(g) under the Securities Exchange Act of 1934 in their regulation of registered brokers and dealers, and is not intended to be and should not be used by anyone other than these specified parties.

Mr. Robert Kaplon
Kenneth Jerome and Co.
P.O. Box 38
Florham Park, NJ 07932

Dear Mr. Kaplon:

I have reviewed the report of your Internal Audit Committee dated February 6, 2008. In so doing, I tested the committee's procedures in the areas of Registration, Customer Accounts, Registered Representatives, Conduct, Municipal Securities, Customer Relations, Mutual Funds and Trading.

I have also conducted specific tests in the Anti-Money Laundering program for the year ended April 30, 2008. These tests were made in the area of wire transfers and bank deposits (particularly cash deposits, if any). I also tested customer accounts and investment accounts of the company's principals for suspicious activity. I also reviewed new account applications for accuracy and completeness, particularly looking for foreign individuals and institutions.

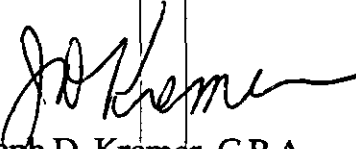

In reviewing the wire transfer blotter, I took particular note of the destination, the source of funds, and whether the wires were domestic or international or indicated any form of "structuring".

The principals of Kenneth Jerome and Co. prepare all bank deposits and do not accept cash from clients, nor are any checks written made out to cash. The Company receives payment from its clearing firm in the form of monthly wire transfers.

In reviewing the brokerage accounts of Kenneth Jerome and Co., principals and brokerage accounts of the firm, I saw no suspicious transactions.

The Company has a policy of not opening accounts for foreign citizens or foreign institutions.

Very truly yours,

Joseph D. Kremer, C.P.A.
